

Commitment on bribery and corruption

Western Caspian University continues adequately to respond the act on transparency and integrity with propriety. Regardless of status in the University, for anyone, who is committed any bribery or corruption offense related to university activities, will be informed to relevant authorities and they will be punished within the framework of the University's internal policy and national legislation.

Western Caspian University takes some actions in order to prevent any kinds of malpractice:

- To identify potential risk areas within the University
- Accurate records and reports are kept for all activities of the University carried out by all departments and faculties
- A Control and Audit Group has been determined in order to effectively monitor and evaluate the processes at the University twice a year

Western Caspian University has included the following statement to all corporative emails of all staff members in order to avoid any fraud committed by a person acting on behalf of the University: Any views, opinions, and suggestions expressed by the sender of this e-mail may not necessarily be those of the Western Caspian University.

According to the commitment, if you encounter any illegal act related to bribery and corruption, please do not hesitate to contact with the Legal Services. All disclosures about illegal or suspicious activities are kept anonymous.